

STRIKE ORDER OF COAL MINERS FOR NOV. 1 STANDS

ABSOLUTE "DRY" BAN ON SALE AND MANUFACTURE OF LIQUOR IS ENFORCED BY U. S. BUREAU

ARMED WITH DRASIC PROVISIONS OF PROHIBITION
ACT, INTERNAL REVENUE AGENTS TAKE UP
TASK OF CARRYING OUT LAW.

Washington, Oct. 29.—Armed with the drastic provisions of the prohibition enforcement act, which became effective as to wartime prohibition with passage by the senate of the measure over the president's veto late yesterday, agents of the bureau of internal revenue today took up the task of making absolute the ban on the manufacture and sale of liquor.

The few remaining saloons in the United States were legally open today for the sale only of beverages containing less than one-half of one percent alcohol. Sale as well as manufacture of beverages of more than that amount alcoholic content laid the saloonkeeper as well as the brewer or distiller liable to heavy penalties. But despite its drastic provisions, the law could not touch the man who had stored up a supply in his own home to his own use.

President Wilson's action.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—A movement to combat enforcement of the wartime prohibition act developed here today. Louis Mayer, attorney for distillery interests, went to Washington to begin action in the United States Supreme Court. Mr. Mayer said he believed war-time prohibition is over and also such laws as the Illinois search and seizure act becomes inoperative. He said he based his opinion on the federal court decision at Louisville two days ago.

President Wilson's veto of war-time prohibition, which Mr. Mayer called "a final pronouncement by the president that demobilization has been completed."

The Louisville decision held that the wartime prohibition act violated the fifth amendment to the constitution. The government appealed direct to the supreme court, and Mr. Mayer said he went to Washington on this appeal case.

GROCERS THROW LIGHT ON PACKERS

By Associated Press.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—The Interstate commerce commission hearing into charges brought by the National Wholesale Grocers association against 117 railroads' extra-ordinary facilities to the big packing companies in shipping grocery products today had developed an alleged new phase of the packers' activities—no extension of interests to stockholding.

Introduction of oral testimony and correspondence of Swift and company indicating that members of the "big five" packers, principally Armour and company, had acquired an interest in at least six New York hotels and another large number of property with the purpose of obtaining the business of provisioning those establishments came as a surprise and for the moment overshadowed interest in the case at issue.

The letters, written mainly by Louis F. Swift, head of Swift and company in 1917, were introduced over objection of counsel for Swift and company.

A. F. L. CONFERENCE CALLED FOR DEC. 13; TO PROTECT LABOR

By Associated Press.

Washington, Oct. 29.—The chief of the international unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor were called today to meet here December 13 "to formulate such action as may be essential to safeguard and promote the rights, interests and freedom of the wage workers."

The call, issued by the federation's executive council and the heads of the four railroad brotherhoods, declared labor was confronted with "grave dangers affecting the foundation of the labor movement" and that it was imperative that the responsible representatives of the workers agree upon "fundamental principles" which will maintain "the right of free men."

No specific topics for discussion were outlined, but it is known that permanent arbitration will be one of the one of the principal subjects. Other matters expected to be taken up include collective bargaining and the right of organized labor to choose its own spokesman as it seems fit, subjects which finally resulted in the dissolution of the national industrial conference called by President Wilson.

The survivor was unable to give the names of those unaccounted for but thought they included four of the crew and three passengers.

With calmer seas today officials began searching the hull of the vessel which sank from sight in 50 feet of water last night. Some of the missing, it is believed, had been washed into the ice.

REGAINS CITIZENSHIP

KING AND QUEEN SEE SIGHTS OF CAPITAL

Washington,

WAR AGAINST AUTO ON IN FULL FORCE

Janesville's campaign to put an end to careless auto driving and violation of city ordinances covering motor vehicles continued at top speed today when three were arraigned before Judge H. L. Maxfield in municipal court and entered pleas of guilty. Those arraigned together with their fines were:

Charles C. Ossmann, $35 and costs.

Victor Enright, $10 and costs.

T. G. Bradford, $10 and costs.

Ossmann pleaded guilty to violating a city ordinance by passing on the left side of the "silent policeman" at the corner of Main and Milwaukee streets while Enright and Bradford both admitted driving without a tail-light.

The examination of Mr. Ossmann that he was driving at a speed of 8 miles an hour with heavy moisture on his wind-shield and that he had to violate the city ordinance in order to avoid hitting a street car round the corner was followed by a severe reprimand by Judge Maxfield in view of his spite of the general recklessness of all taxi drivers.

"This court is going to do all in its power to put a stop to reckless driving," said the judge. "The police are cooperating and if we cannot end it by issuing reasonable fines on offenders we will resort to more severe means."

"You taxi drivers seem to think you own the streets the way you drive in the downtown district. Up until last week a person had run his life in order to get into the city," he said.

He was explaining that he had instructed all his cab drivers to obey the speed laws and city ordinances and asked that they be brought in court if caught violating traffic laws.

Chief Morley said he had received many complaints of recklessness on the part of taxi drivers and stated that he would continue to arrest all violators.

Admitting that he was riding in a truck without a tail-light visible, Enright explained that the lamp was lighted by a wet out white去做 for the night street near the Samson Tractor plant.

TRAVELETTE

By NIKSAH.

CAMP HUMPHREYS.

Camp Humphreys, in Virginia, not far from Washington, is one of the most isolated villages which the end of the war has left scattered all over the country.

The camp is located on a great tract of wild Virginia woodland, fronting on the Potomac river with high forested bluffs. It is only a few miles from Mount Vernon, and is still nearer the village of Lorton, which is the center of a section occupied by the estates of wealthy country dwellers.

Just a few months ago this hitherto waste land was a scene of bustling activity. Shanties were being built, timber cut, drains dug. Lines of khaki-clad men were drilling in long-deserted pastures. Rifles were cleaned, targets set, the country roads to pieces, bringing to the new born city more inhabitants every day, and the supplies with which to keep them alive. At the summer of 1918 the country-side lay under a pall of yellow dust, thrown up by the teams of trucks, and by the vehicles of visitors.

Now this is all over. Camp Humphreys consists of row upon row of deserted yellow shanties, and just a few occupied ones. A couple of enlisted men are the rule. Once in while a few men pass by the rifle range. But for the most part it is a spectacle of desolation and wasted energy.

One good thing it has left the neighborhood, and that is a fine military road from Alexandria to its gate, which was completed just about the time the war was over.

Members of the S. S. club of which Mrs. Langer is a member served the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Langer left on a wedding trip to Milwaukee and other cities. They will be at home on their farm in the town of Harmony.

The last club supper of the season of the Janesville Country club was given this evening at Mrs. Frank V. Kunkel's home. It was in the nature of a harvest home festival and Hallowe'en party. The clubhouse was decorated with the Hallowe'en decorations which the Beta Gamma girls had arranged for their Saturday night party, including black streamers, black cats and witches predominated.

The tables were trimmed with vegetables and lighted with orange candles. After dinner the Lakota orchestra gave a program, which was followed with a dance. There was a final grand crowning.

It was a fitting close of the season's gaieties at the Country club. The club has been a popular place for the club members to entertain their friends. It is hoped next year to have a new plan installed so the club house may be open to the public late in the winter season. One hundred and eleven were served at the supper last night. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Fred Tucker, Mrs. Johnson, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Payne, Wauwatosa, Wash.; Mrs. Cuthbert J. Atkinson, and Paul Cornish, Fort Atkinson.

Stefansson Off to Canada
On Reindeer Meat Scheme

[By INTERNATIONAL NEWS.] New York—Vilhjalmur Stefansson, the noted Arctic explorer, left this city recently on a trip to the northern section of Canada to promote his contention that his country must be sought out in the "Frozen North." Mr. Stefansson plans to deliver lectures in Canadian cities as well as smaller towns.

In speaking of his plans Mr. Stefansson said: "I believe the Canadian government is not only right but it is the best government in the world. It is the only government that has the right to represent the huge herds of reindeer which inhabit the northern regions of Canada. They will then sell them at a reasonable price to small stock owners. Reindeer meat is the solution of the food problem on this continent. The Dominion government has a plan to do this. I can convince 25 Canadian towns of my scheme they will take it up in earnest."

THE WHY OF THE COLLEGE CAMPAIGN.

Why do the Wisconsin colleges, at this time, project a campaign for five million dollars?

They do it for the same reason that Harvard, Princeton and Yale, with endowments ranging from twenty to thirty million dollars, are projecting campaigns for from eight to fifteen million dollars.

They do it for the same reason that Washington University, at St. Louis, is raising two million dollars. Three years ago, the president of Washington University said his university had money enough. The chief concern then was to expend it wisely. Now, under changed conditions, additional sums are required.

The Wisconsin colleges are raising money for the same reason that Leland Stanford Jr. University, with its foundation laid by the Stanford family, which under normal conditions, had proved adequate for buildings and maintenance, must now appeal to the people for support.

These reasons follow:

1. The decrease in the purchasing power of the dollar.

This affects the colleges. All commodities have increased in cost. The coal bill alone of one college in Wisconsin has increased $9,000 per year as a result of this. Chemicals, books, wages have all taken a great upward jump.

Much has been said about the underpaid teacher. Nowhere does this fall heavier upon a devoted group than in the Wisconsin colleges. They were able to live upon their salaries with difficulty before the war. The dollar now purchases what 47 cents did before the war. This need must be met.

2. The enormous acceleration in the demand for education.

This grows out of the war. The government created a desire in practically every soldier and sailor for more education.

We have accumulation of two years during which men were in the service of their country. We have the encouragement of the state which offers $30 per month to help in education.

We have the enormous increase in the number of high schools. The last ten years has been an era of advance in high schools throughout the state. We have the very great advance in the percentage of high school graduates who are going to college. This has added hundreds annually to the college enrollments and the number is increasing rapidly.

3. The troubled world is a reason.

Never in the history of America, was there such a need for balanced, thoughtful, intellectual, trained leadership. The country needs poise. The country needs calm deliberation. The country needs progressive, upward looking, independent thinking men. But it needs that they shall be safeguarded and balanced by the fundamental foundation of Christian civilization.

TO MAKE THE ALIENS LEARN.

As a result of its investigation of the strike of steel workers the senate committee on education and labor has drafted a bill designed to promote the so-called "Americanization" movement.

It provides for the education of aliens who cannot read, speak and write our language. This scheme is to be carried out by the federal government in co-operation with the states.

The federal appropriation of $12,500,000 annually for the next three years must be supplemented by appropriations of the several states accepting the assignment proportionate to the amount received by them. And the benefits of education are provided not merely for aliens above the age of 16, but for adult citizens of the United States who are illiterate.

For some time a similar measure, strongly advocated by Secretary Lane, for the instruction of illiterates, has been before congress, but the new bill contains one vital and striking addition: The making of this elementary education in our language and customs compulsory (or the classes mentioned). They are to attend school for not less than 200 hours a year until they have completed a specified course, and necessarily a penalty is provided for failure to observe the law. This seems the only way to make the law a success.

We rightly insist that every child shall receive the benefits of education and the government is well within its powers in applying the compulsory system to adults. This has been shown to be necessary as a matter of self-defense. For years this subject has been agitated by persons who were classed as professional reformers riding a hobby. They were scouted as theorists.

But now, after the emergency has arisen, there is haste to enact their theory into law. It is easy to be wise after the fact, but surely if we had taken some pains before this to teach foreign workers our language and ways, and the value of our institutions, framed for the welfare and protection of all, the professional trouble-makers would scarcely have obtained such a following in this country.

PRAYER MEETING NIGHT.

Tonight is the night of the old-fashioned prayer meeting of our mother and her mother. And how many of the readers of this paper will be there to help with the services?

Prayer meeting, before the cities got so big that one lost track of his friends and before the time of flats and apartments where one doesn't know one's neighbor, was one of the feature events of the day.

Everybody who "amounted to anything" gathered at the church for a visit, test, for a half-hour or so before the minister called them to order for the worship.

And the mothers then pray for their sons in the city, and the fathers nodded their heads at the prayers and blew their noses loudly. And sister sang like the angels in heaven, because she knew that after the meeting her boat would be there to take her home.

And after the services, there was another social meeting in which the women traded recipes and the men planned business deals. It was a meeting of mutual benefit for the entire congregation. The minister kept an eye on his flock, and the flock became better acquainted with each other and the world in general.

It was one of the feature events of the week. was a prayer meeting, before the cities got so big that one didn't know more than a dozen people at the prayer meeting.

RETURN OF AMERICAN DEAD.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

WHEN THE OTHER FELLOW'S BUSY.
When the other fellow's busy, wave your hand and pass along.
Don't ask him then to listen to your little tale of wrong.
Do not talk about the weather or the latest bit of news.
Shout a glad good morning to him, but don't stop to air your views.

When the other fellow's busy with the work he has to do, Don't imagine that he's eager to hear idle talk from you. He won't tell you for, your visit, but he'll list you with the folks.
And he'll wish he'd never met you if you make him drop his tools.

When the other fellow's busy never take the empty chair.
Just forget your pleasant story or your little tale of care.

For the chances are he's thinking of the work he has to do
And before the day is over he would like to see it through.

If you want to keep the friendship of the men you meet and know,
If you'd have them glad to see you and be sorry when you go,
There's a certain way to do it, and I'm telling it in rhyme:

When the other fellow's busy do not stop and waste his time.

—Copyright 1919 by Edgar A. Guest.

Fathers and mothers to whom the months of waiting have been cruelly long.

Support of the administration is expected for the exerted at Paris to permit the exhumations, which the French government would delay further.

The position of the government is rather an embarrassing one because of the unexpected opposition at Paris, where fear is expressed that exhumation at this time would have insanitary dangers and that passage through that unsanitary country of the long death trains might have disastrous effect upon a none too firmly established morale. It is the purpose of the government to convince our ally that these fears are exaggerated.

It is probable that a large number of American families will ultimately decide to permit their sons to rest on the soil on which they fought, in the great memorial cemetery now being formed. But the way should be quickly opened for meeting the wishes of all who would have their kin returned to them. The wishes of the individual family in every case should be paramount.

WINE AND WOMEN.

The federal government has struck bibulous bachelors a staggering blow. The law permitting the manufacture of home-made wines is held to apply to heads of families only.

It may be that congress in its wisdom felt that the opportunity to become inebriates through home wine-making should be confined to those who have wives to care for them. At least that is a logical conclusion from the ruling that wine and women must be combined in our home.

The situation at least presents the advantages of matrimony from an angle hitherto unthought of.

The Kentucky moonshine output is reported to be threatened by excessive rain which is rotting the corn so that there may not be enough for home use. Of course, Kentuckians will consider their own wants first.

The special house committee which has recommended that Victor Berger, Milwaukee socialist, be denied his seat on the ground of disloyalty, certainly cannot be charged with acting with undue haste.

Kentucky distillers would like very much to get rid of $75,000,000 worth of liquor. And there are plenty of people who would gladly assist in the undertaking.

Their Opinions

If all the fail poets who are offering rhymes about the falling leaves, etc., would only devote some of their energies to making up the leaves, the country would be saved from experiencing much poor verse and the civic beauty of many localities would be materially enhanced at the same time.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

PEN FACTORY WILL BE 4 STORES HIGH

The mammoth new structure of the Parker Pen factory, being built at the corner of Division and Court streets, will be a four-story building instead of a three-story affair as originally planned according to the architect, just completed with the Rank contracting company, Milwaukee. 50 Boys Plan to Be at Y. M. C. A. Booster Banquet

"Tonight at 6 o'clock the curfew shall sound and the boys' division of the Y. M. C. A. share in the recent 'Y. Drive' will come to an end." So announced Secretary Preston this morning. "New members and subscriptions will be received after that time, but the effort will not count in this case." The division of the Y. M. C. A. will be in charge of L. A. Markham, welfare director.

SAMSON EMPLOYES TO BE GUESTS OF "Y"

More than 500 invitations have been extended to employees of the Wausau Machine company, the Durand Engineering company, and the local Barber shop to attend an "open house" at the Y. M. C. A. starting at 8 o'clock this evening.

The purpose of "open house" this evening is two-fold. An informal luncheon of the type not so familiar with the Y. M. C. A. and the activities carried on there will be able to come into personal touch with all the advantages that the "Y" has to offer the young men now living in Janesville today.

Another purpose of this evening will also bring together the employees of the Samson Tractor company from its various branches in another of their "get together" evenings, the first of which was held some time ago.

All the advantages offered by the "Y" will be at the disposal of the visitors tonight. Billiards, bowling, pool, and various games will be enjoyed by all present. The Samson Orchestra will be in attendance tonight and will furnish the music for the occasion. A place for the orchestra to get together evenings, the first of which was held some time ago.

After rifling his pockets without securing anything, the host left his own room and went to Plantikoff's home at 15 West Milwaukee street where, posing as a revenue collector, he obtained a position as a waiter to search the home for whiskey. Plantikoff said he never kept any liquor at his home and that the "collector" left without stealing any articles.

OLDER BOYS TO HOLD ANNUAL CONFERENCE

Plans are now being arranged whereby Janesville will send a delegation of young men to attend the Older Boys' conference and under the auspices of the state Y. M. C. A. at Sheboygan, November 29 and 30. W. H. Wones, state boys' secretary, is in charge of the program.

Sec. A. C. Preston, of the local state association, is in charge of the conference and is now being handed in. It is expected that 20 or 25 boys will attend.

About 350 delegates are expected to attend the session. They represent high schools, church boy's clubs, Sunday school classes, Boy Scout organizations, Y. M. C. A. people, and similar groups engaged in the betterment of boys.

The first Older Boys' conference was held 17 years ago and with every succeeding session the attendance has increased and the scope of work accompanying has increased. The "Y" organization is planning to make the coming meeting at Sheboygan the most important one held thus far.

Significant developments have taken place in the boy's work during the past year and the nation's youth is shown by 35 delegations on the national count which is expressed by the bountiful press today. The Swiss delegation, these newspapers comment, took victory in a strong attack on the part of the extremists who had been boasting that the bourgeois parties would be snuffed out.

BUGGS YOUTH FACES ORIGINAL CHARGE

Regarding the findings of the coroner's jury in the McLean inquest yesterday, George E. Buggs, driver of the car which fatally injured Miss Martha McLean, must face the original charge of manslaughter in municipal court according to a ruling made by Dist. Atty. S. G. Dunderwille at the close of the inquest yesterday. Although the jury's verdict was that the auto was carelessly driven but not to a point of criminal negligence, this will have no effect on the original charge, he stated.

The date for the boy's hearing has not as yet been definitely set.

LOCAL STARS SCORE HIT IN KATCHA KOO, MUSICAL COMEDY

Katherine Schellen, Lester McCloy and Edward Thiele was the catchiest of the musical numbers.

The pageant of victory was a gory scene finale. More than hundred school children representing Yankee Dixies, Italian, Italians, French girls, Belgian and Sammies made an elaborate spectacle.

Liberty Adams Show.

At the last a tableau of the American Red Cross nurses, soldiers, sailors, French, Belgians, Belgian and Italian showed liberty effacing.

Given under the auspices of St. Mary's church, the committee in charge of the play was made up of Miss Agnes Croak, Mrs. Frank Croak and Mrs. Edward Jorg.

Miss Hazel Gowan was unable to carry her singing part on account of a cold. Mr. McCloy, director, sang

Two adventurous Americans obtain from the widow of a wizard a bag of tricks, which contain clothes that make the person who wears them take on the nature of the owner.

Katcha Koo is persuaded by the Americans to do the cleverest, each article of clothing changing the actions of the fekki. He dances, becomes courteous as he does, the Frenchman's trousers, becomes carefree and happy when wearing the vagabond's shirt, and full of babbling love when the vest of the Italian is put on.

Under the spell of the vest, Katcha

Koo makes love to the Maharajah's wives, the American travelers, and in fact every woman whom he sees.

This angers the Maharajah more than the tricks of Katcha Koo did and he dooms the Americans, who walked the trick on the fekki, to death.

By a ruse the vest is finally wrested from Katcha Koo. One of the American travelers, Mrs. Chattie Gadden, recognizes in Katcha Koo her long lost husband, Charles.

All return to America. Dick and Dolly part off. Harry wins Prudence, and the Maharajah is left with his

was excellent, the star of the show.

His characterization of the part was without affectation. Singing with the chorus, "It's the Clothes that Makes the Man," he scored the hit of the show.

is a son and daughter of the play, of the production. Others vieing for stellar roles were Miss Betty Gower,

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you kindly tell us what is the meaning of placing stamps in different positions on the face of an envelope? E. A. & L. B.

Those who indulge in postage stamp flirtations give the mail department a great deal of trouble, I suspect, therefore, that you refrain from giving this information.

Upset down on the left corner—
Love you.

Crosswise on the left corner—My heart is another's.

Upset down on right corner—We're no more.

In the middle at the right edge—

In center at top—Yes.

Opposite at bottom—No.

On upper-right hand corner, at a right angle—Do you love me?

Straight up, in right-hand corner—
I wish your friendship.

Straight bottom, left-hand corner—
I seek your acquaintance.

On a line with name—Accept my love.

On a line with name, upside down—
I am engaged.

On a line with name at right angles—I long to see you.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Does a boy think you are a girl if she does not let him kiss her? R. M.

Your question has been much debated in my column at different times. Some young men have tastes so purely physical that they do not enjoy a girl without kissing. Other young men are in another plane and they enjoy companionship.

When a young man really loves a girl she does not cheapen herself in

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY

I suppose it's "just like a woman," but now that that horrid Belton episode and my outburst to Jim are over I almost wish I hadn't made such a fuss about it.

Now, being carried, my victory being complete, would be glad to have the thing done there. But Jim is thoroughly roused to Belton's untrustworthiness, and says he will dissolve the partnership as soon as they can wind up their joint affairs.

Jim is terribly upset about it all. "I'm a fool, I'm a fool," he says to Jim this evening. "I man doesn't have to be a rogue in business because he makes love to his partner's wife. Maybe it would be better to go on for a time at least."

"You must be crazy, Ann," Jim answered. "I could never treat him decently again. Besides, a man who can't trust his wife, a good woman, can't be trusted with anything."

Which was precisely what I myself had told Jim more than once, but he said it as if he had only that moment discovered it as a profound truth and voiced it for the first time. Men do not like wisdom from women; they have to reach it by their own cumbersome methods of logic experience.

Are you quite satisfied, then, to break with Belton, Jimmie? You won't regret it afterwards?"

"I am quite satisfied," Jim repeated, and I am sure that he meant it. "I am not a prepossessing man, anyhow, in business. I might people don't take to him. I've liked him because I thought he had solid ability, if not charm, and a thoroughly honorable conception of business ethics. He's awfully honest, even in the smallest matters."

By HELEN RANDOLPH

A young girl of my acquaintance seems to be deliberately crossing "the primrose path" and oh, how I wish I could warn her that she is throwing away the path of happiness.

Already her name has been linked unpleasantly with that of a married man, a prominent professional man, and the girl, to discerning eyes, already shows signs of having lost the finer sensibilities. Her manner has become strained and artificial. She is dressing in mannered ways calculated to attract attention, and the wretched bit of rouge with which she started out a short time ago has become so flamboyant as to attract immediate attention on the street.

Oh, poor little girl (for such she is), and she is only about 20 years old. She is one of those women who have chosen to ignore the world and have given up all for a passing infatuation. Is there one who is happy? Analyze their expressions and see if you can possibly think it is worth while?

One woman who chose this "part company" with her man now knows for sure she has money and a beautiful home, and possibly she cares for the man for whom she sacrificed her reputation, but is this enough to compensate for being ostracized socially?

She is never seen with a woman. No matter what one's infatuation for man can any woman be happy without a woman friend? The woman without women friends and the man without men friends do not lead a normal life.

So, little girl, before you go further, think it over. Don't forget that happiness is not measured by one's amount of this world's goods. And it's all of photograph to find a remedy for it.

Keep your photograph, friend. What have you against me?

Often nasal polyps are found when this hydrocephalus is the chief complaint. Sometimes removal of the nasal polyps brings relief; sometimes it does not.

The condition is not hay fever or a cold, but from the fact that it occurs on suddenly when I am at my desk and continues without interruption for two or three days. It does not last up at night, but on the contrary runs a constant stream, so that I am compelled to sleep. My doctor thought I might have polyp, but this nose and throat specialist of mine says he examined me after the third attack. Is this probably a form of hay fever or is it due to some general condition? It happens more frequently in summer, but also in the winter time. I am not able to photograph to find a remedy for it.

Keep your photograph, friend. What have you against me?

EVERYDAY HELPS

By GRANDMOTHER WELLS

Do you keep an emergency shelf in your pantry? There are times when such a shelf will help you out of meal difficulties, and other times when, if you do not have something put away for an emergency, you would be very much embarrassed.

On the safe side and for not permitting yourself to kiss him, dear Mrs. Thompson: I went with a girl for six months. About five months ago she got angry at me, and I do not know what she is angry about. I have asked her twice to go somewhere, but she always refuses when I phone and ask her. Should I write her and apologize?

OUT OF LUCK.

Do not write and apologize, because you have done nothing that calls for an apology. The girl enjoys some one else more, and you will make her understand. You will be happier if you find another girl.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a young woman of twenty and for the last five years have kept company with different young men. Usually I go with some one else. I don't care much for any one after once or twice being with him. Usually I just hate him. I cannot account for this.

I have pictured to myself the kind of man that I should want and none of my acquaintances seem to live up to my expectations. Recently I met a young man who is exactly the opposite to my dream man and I find that instead of hating him I like him. Do you believe that I like him? Do you believe that I should be satisfied with this?

DREAMER.

Be satisfied with realities. Look for good in your friends and you will be more apt to like them. You have faults as well as the young men and probably do not satisfy them any more than they do you.

W. E. L.

By ELOISE

Every woman is going to feel just a little bit "out of it" this season unless she can claim a fur wrap of some sort as her own. Or, if she does not own a real fur coat, she must have one made of fur fabric or a good imitation fur. The best thing about the coming winter is the fact that these fur fabrics are going to be every bit as fashionable as the genuine article and, much to the sorrow of many women, the fur fabrics will cost every bit as much as a good piece of fur fabric or peltries.

Also Jim's reference to Belton's not being a "proposessing man" stuck in my mind.

I wonder if he had been attractive, how would I have felt about his attentions? It never occurred to me before.

He let me ask myself candidly that question. Imagining Belton to be a slender and good-looking instead of fat, plump, and with piggy brown eyes that leered, would I have angrily resented his admiration?

Does a woman ever resent being looked upon with interest, tenderness, even passion, by a personable man? Does she not rather resent not having power over him? There is that. Illustrate, for instance, at Athena Haste's luncheon the other day. I didn't like him. Yet, in the last analysis I perceive he showed a special interest in me.

Why, did I not like the portrait painter? I was told my portrait was an intelligent man, capable, successful, pleasant mannered. But he asked to paint my picture; I can't get away from that!

If he had touched my arm as Belton did; if he had bent his gaze upon me with half-closed eyes, like the nutty little Belton did; if he had said, "I'm not a fool," with a smile, I would have been as t-r-i-g-h-t-u-l-y mad? I wonder?

However, Belton will soon be out of our lives. Jim's talent and money will be better invested with some one else, or alone.

It's all of photograph to find a remedy for it.

Often nasal polyps are found when this hydrocephalus is the chief complaint. Sometimes removal of the

nasal polyps brings relief; sometimes it does not.

The condition is not hay fever or a cold, but from the fact that it occurs on suddenly when I am at my desk and continues without interruption for two or three days. It does not last up at night, but on the contrary runs a constant stream, so that I am compelled to sleep. My doctor thought I might have polyp, but this nose and throat specialist of mine says he examined me after the third attack. Is this probably a form of hay fever or is it due to some general condition?

It happens more frequently in summer, but also in the winter time. I am not able to photograph to find a remedy for it.

"The kaiser has stripped off his British uniform," said the announcer. "He says he will never again wear a British uniform."

A chuckle of derisive laughter ran through the mob; then someone struck up a well-known refrain: "What the h—do we care? Up and down the street voices caught the chorus. Within a year the bones of many in that thoughtless crowd, bleaching on the fields of Flanders, showed how much they cared.

Dave drove direct to the Hardy home.

After some delay Irene met him at the door, and Dave explained the situation in a few words. "We must take care of the Recruit," he said.

"I feel personal responsibility."

"Of course we will take him," she answered. "He will live here until we have a—some place of our own." Her face was bright with something which must be tenderness, and he carried him upstairs. We'll not let him in the room and introduce him first to the bathroom. And tomorrow, we shall have an excursion downtown, and get some new clothes for Charlie—Elton."

As they moved up the stairs Conward, who had been in another room in conversation with Mrs. Hardy, followed them unseen. The boy had been interminable for Conward. For three hours he had avoided word of word. The victim had been trapped, and for three hours no word had come. If his plans had miscarried, if Dave had discovered the plot, well—And here at length was Dave, engrossed in a very different matter.

"Gee-Whiz! How it Hurts—
The Pain in My Foot!"

"Sometimes it is in my arm. Moreful Heaven, how my back hurts in the morning!" It's all due to an overabundance of that poison called uric acid. The kidneys are not able to get rid of it. Such conditions you can readily overcome, and prolong life by taking the advice of Dr. Pierce, which is "keep the kidneys in good order." "Avoid too much meat, alcohol or tea. Drink plenty of pure water, preferably hot water, before meals, and drive the uric acid out of the system by taking Anuric." This can be obtained at almost any drug store.

Sold a bottle of water to the chemist at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive free medical advice as to whether the kidneys are affected. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you suffer from backache, sick-headache, dizzy spells, or twinges and pains of lumbago, rheumatism or gout; or sleep is disturbed two or three times a night, take heed, before too late. Get Anuric (anti-uric-acid), for it will put new life into your kidneys and your entire system. Ask your nearest druggist for it or send Dr. Pierce ten cents for trial package.

TWO SAMSON TEAMS OPEN BASKETBALL SEASON TONIGHT

Janesville's 1919-20 basketball season will open at the Y. M. C. A. tonight when the Samson office squad will take on the Samson shop crew in a 40-minute struggle, the feature of the grand "open house" for all Samson employees this year.

Although both lineups are somewhat indefinite, it is practically assured that Vic Henning will lead the office team to victory while Paul Richards, old-time basketball captain, the shop team.

Biglow and several other stars who have never played in Janesville before will don suits for the shop team, while a number of "hinds" are expected to be recovered.

The game will follow a bowling match between the Samson test-floor workers and the Samson assembly line squad. Bowlers of the numerous auto factories at the new plant, whose teams are being made to form a Samson league. The game tonight will serve to give a line on the caliber of the machinists.

TITLE LOOKS GOOD TO CARROL GRID TEAM

Waukesha, Oct. 29.—Carroll college will capture the intercollegiate football contest, says Coach Haberman, if present indications are any register of the final outcome.

Carroll meets Lawrence on the local gridiron Saturday. Having defeated Northwestern college of Watertown by a 30 to 13 score, despite losing a victory to Lawrence seems a certainty in view of the fact that Lawrence suffered over Stevens Point Normal Saturday. Lawrence was victor, 10 to 0.

A round robin with Lawrence, Saturday, means a decisive clash with Ripon college at Ripon, a task from which Carroll will give little trouble, it is thought, since Ripon found her players a weak defense on the home field.

BOB MARTIN BEATS JOE BOND IN TENTH

Akron, Oct. 29.—Bob Martin of Akron, heavyweight champion of the American expeditionary and Field forces, won his first professional bout when he won from Joe Bonds of New York at the end of the tenth round of a scheduled 15 round contest here last night, when Referee Matt Hinkie stopped the bout.

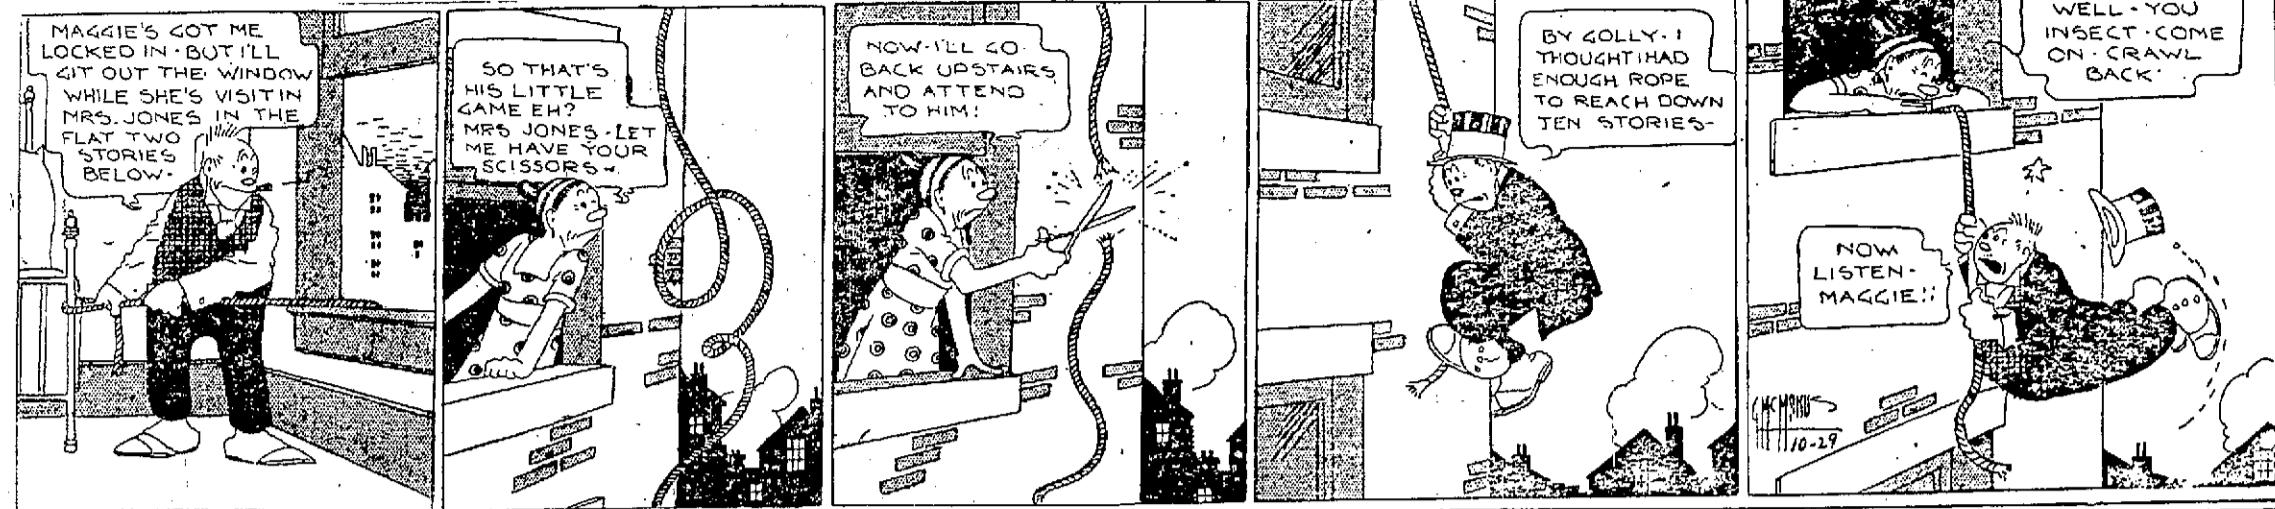

Martin, admitting he gave punishment to his opponent from the start, knocked him down in the sixth round for a count of three.

At the end of the eighth round Bonds' seconds wanted to toss the sponge into the ring, but Bonds refused to quit.

MILITARY ACADEMY GRID TEAMS MEET

Delafield, Wisc., Oct. 29.—St. John's military academy football team's next foe will be Shattuck of Minnesota, and Coach Fletcher has a busy week of practice and cadet training preparation for the big game. Shattuck is an old rival of the Delafield soldiers and this year looms strong, and in several years, and should give the Fletchermen a tough battle.

To make certain of having for reliable corpsmen, and making the players, Coach Fletcher put in a call for Jack McCoy, one time St. John's star, but McCoy being still under a physician's care as the result of recent illness, will not be able to assist the coaching this year. His wife, Elizabeth, is now doing considerable lighting at Baltimore clubs, has shown himself capable of making the bantamweight division recently, but the strenuous labor of getting himself down to weight required by Delafield has been too much for him, and the result was that he entered the ring in a weakened condition. He has announced that he does not intend to go through any more ordeals in order to fight in the bantamweight division and from now on he content to meet all comers in the 122-125 class.

In order to meet top notchers in the higher group, the Lockport batter has to take off from five to 13 pounds while training, but for his future matches he will not go through any boxing, but will go through the columns of the public press appear to have entirely overlooked the fact that 1919 puts on the finishing touches and completes a record that stands unequalled in the entire history of the sport.

Knowing the proper direction in which to look for something that we may have accomplished, we have succeeded in digging up the fact that in the last four playing seasons the Athletics lost a total of 400 games. Here is the record:

	Lost.
1915	100
1916	117
1917	98
1918	76

Lossing an average of 100 games per season is a record that defies the most feeble flock of pop-eyed produce and this 1919 season makes the average even higher.

The Y club at New Haven will house all the Yale athletes trying for teams. In addition men who have won their letter will be active members of the club, and undergraduates of the college will have no voice in the Y, will be associate members.

Dick Loadman has graduated into the featherweight division and in the future all his bouts will be with lads of that class. He has planned an extensive campaign that he hopes will result in a match with the champion, Johnny Ladd, for the title. Right now, Dick, who is now doing considerable lighting at Baltimore clubs, has shown himself capable of making the bantamweight division recently, but the strenuous labor of getting himself down to weight required by Delafield has been too much for him, and the result was that he entered the ring in a weakened condition. He has announced that he does not intend to go through any more ordeals in order to fight in the bantamweight division and from now on he content to meet all comers in the 122-125 class.

In the frenzied rush to grovel at the feet of those who have obtained a temporary toehold in the high pinnacle of baseball fame, those more or less intelligent and perspicacious persons will be well advised to consider the glad tidings broadcast through the columns of the public press appear to have entirely overlooked the fact that 1919 puts on the finishing touches and completes a record that stands unequalled in the entire history of the sport.

RIFLE CLUB WILL HOLD WEEKLY MEETS THROUGHOUT WINTER

With the approach of cold weather and the consequent abandoning of the range north of the city for regular practice use, the officials of the Janesville Rifle club have completed arrangements whereby weekly meets will be held in the armory every Sunday throughout the winter. Practice at the armory will be on the 75-foot range.

Interest of members of the club, mounting of arms and preparation are being made to stage a competitive match in the near future.

At the first indoor shoot held in the armory Sunday, 20 members of the club participated. Corp. Frank Rydler carried off high honors for the day with a score of 178, while Roy D. Emil Schwerner landed in third position with a count of 167. Several other good scores were made.

The families had hoped to make a formal announcement later, but the news leaked out.

During this sale and demonstration we will offer you Neponset Floor Covering at a special price of

73c Square Yard

You are urged to come and see Neponset floor covering; see how it is made; how it resists water and moisture; how flat it lies on the floor without tacking and without curling up at the edges. See the beautiful linoleum patterns it comes in.

Neponset is a fabric exactly similar to printed linoleum in appearance and if anything superior in wear at a considerable lower price—by the use of an entirely different and improved base, it costs less to manufacture.

Neponset comes in beautiful patterns, an artistic design for every room.

You must see them to realize their true beauty.

Be sure and attend the Demonstration and sale. Bring your friends along.

Remember this special price is for three days only.

Bring your measurements with you so we can cut and match the goods for your floor.
